A Message from Krieg DeVault LLP's Creditors' Rights and Bankruptcy Practice Group on Our Response to the Coronavirus COVID-19 Pandemic

March 23, 2020

We are living through extraordinary times. As experienced veterans of the workout and insolvency arena, the members of Krieg DeVault's Creditors' Rights and Bankruptcy Practice Group wish to remind you of our ability to help with any distressed debt or workout issues you may face as a result of this devastating pandemic. Our insolvency professionals draw upon the Firm's other practice groups when needed to provide responsive client service.

As is true for all of us, our first priority is the health and safety of our colleagues, family, clients and friends. We currently all are balancing personal and professional challenges.

Because the U.S. economy is struggling as a result of the pandemic, we want to provide an update on steps taken by Krieg DeVault's Creditors' Rights and Bankruptcy Practice Group to ensure uninterrupted client service:

- Krieg DeVault's legal professionals and staff are able to work remotely, and the Firm's technology resources should ensure uninterrupted continuity of client service.
- We will continue to provide relevant content that should help you during this tough time. To this end, please click here to access our Coronavirus (COVID-19) Resource Center for a variety of timely and industry-specific alerts about the current situation. Please feel free to use and pass along this information.

We believe our Practice Group's experience providing counsel in distressed circumstances to clients in IN and IL has equipped us for the uncertainty of the current crisis. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact any of our Practice Group members at your convenience.

We value our continued relationship with you, and look forward to helping in any way possible.

Thank you,

Krieg DeVault LLP's Creditors' Rights and Bankruptcy Practice Group
